KATHOTIYA

JUNGLE CAMP

A small tribal village called Kathotiya, situated only 25 km from Bhopal offers unlimited thrill, pleasure and peace to an ecotraveller and adventurer. The village is situated in a beautiful green valley, surrounded by precipitous hill faces, verdant forests, and ancient rock shelters and paintings.

Kathotiya is mainly inhabited by the legendary Bhil and Bhilala Tribes, who find mention in many ancient Indian scriptures. These colourful tribes were traditionally Hunter, Gatherers, but have now taken up settled agriculture, although their meagre earnings are still significantly supplemented by forest produce collected from the abundant forest around.

SAMARDHA

JUNGLE CAMP

Samardha Jungle Camp is situated 30 km from Bhopal and is the first community based ecotourism destination of Madhya Pradesh. History of Samardha goes back to the time of erstwhile Nawabs of Bhopal, who frequently visited Samardha for hunting and due to this very reason it was known as "Shikargah of Nawab".

Samardha Jungle Camp comes under Samardha Range of Bhopal division and is a reserved forest area. Samardha range is endowed with rich flora and fauna with approximately (65 species of birds, 20 species of mammals and 45 species of trees). Samardha offers unlimited thrill, pleasure and peace to an ecotraveller and adventurer. The village is situated in a beautiful green valley, surrounded by precipitous hill faces, verdant forests, and ancient rock shelters and paintings.
